

I hope that the FCC keeps the current media ownership rules. It is through the media that most americans are able to keep abreast of the issues in our country as well as the world. It is imperative that we keep this information coming from as many sources as possible so that we can make informed decisions and understand the reasoning behind different viewpoints. We must keep big business and media separate from each other. The current rules maintain the health of our democracy.

Thank you

Guy Lowe